Communiqué #19 from Al-Qaida's Committee in the Arabian Peninsula

September 21, 2004

"Praise to Allah alone, who supported his soldiers and defeated their enemies; and, as for after:"

"The Brigade of Martyr Nasser Bin Rashid Al-Rashid was successful in its surveillance of the Briton Edmund Stuart[sic], an engineer born in 1954 who worked for the Marconi company, one of the imperialist crusader companies that offers its services to the National Guard… On Wednesday the first of Shaban, after a precise investigation, the mujahideen saw an opportunity to kill him at one of the markets he frequented in eastern Riyadh. The mujahideen succeeded in [reaping] the bounty of Allah and sending a clear message to the crusaders and their tyrant lapdogs that the mujahideen are persistent in their vow to Allah to follow the path of jihad, to seek revenge for the oppressed Muslims everywhere, to expel the crusader forces and liberate the land of the Muslims, to establish Allah's decree and execute his orders, and to cleanse the Arabian Peninsula from the polytheists… [who] have menaced our brothers in Iraq, Afghanistan, and Palestine."

"As for the regime of the Al-Saud family, they are still persistent in deluding themselves, in continuing their tyranny… in besieging the houses of the Muslims, breaking into them, and violating their sanctity for the purpose of protecting and satisfying their crusader masters. They seek to extinguish the light of Allah with their [actions], but Allah will not let his light fade, even if the infidels hate it."
